To Whom it May Concern:

We are farmers, growing a variety of vegetables, at the Horse Lake Community Farm Co-operative, at Horse Lake, near 100 Mile House. The main objective of our garden project is to provide fresh, nutritious food, at no cost, to people who might not be able to afford to buy it. We demonstrated this in the summer of 2018 (our first year in operation), by donating several bins of vegetables each week to the 100 Mile House Women's Centre, to be distributed to their clients.

We aim to expand on this in 2019. We do need to earn money to support our efforts, so we are searching out community programs that would have funding available to buy our produce, which would then be distributed to community members for free.

If your organization is able and interested in working with us to feed people, please contact us. We believe that healthy food is a right, and that all individuals should have access to it, no matter what their life circumstances are. We look forward to your reply.

Yours truly,

David and Laura Laing
