Re: Council Resolution and Supplementary Memo for NCLGA Annual General Meeting in 2026

At the Regular Meeting of Council held Monday, March 9, 2026, the Council of the City of Dawson Creek passed the following resolution regarding Improved Access to Publicly Funded Mental Health Services for consideration at the 2026 North Central Local Government Association (NCLGA) Annual General Meeting:

Improved Access to Publicly Funded Mental Health Services

WHEREAS local governments experience increasing pressures on emergency services, policing, bylaw enforcement, homelessness response, and community safety systems associated with gaps in timely and accessible mental health services;

AND WHEREAS access to counselling and other mental health supports is often dependent on private insurance coverage, employer benefits, session limits, or out-of-pocket costs, creating barriers to equitable access, particularly in rural and northern communities;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the North Central Local Government Association and the Union of British Columbia Municipalities request that the Province of British Columbia take steps to improve access to universal, publicly funded mental health services, including counselling and related supports, with a focus on early intervention and prevention.

Sincerely,

Tabatha Young,

Improved Access to Publicly Funded Mental Health Services – Supplementary Memo

This request is being brought forward in the wake of the tragedy in Tumbler Ridge on February 10, 2026, where nine lives were lost and several others were injured in one of the deadliest school shootings in Canadian history.

This devastating event has prompted renewed reflection on mental health supports, early intervention pathways, and system coordination across British Columbia. As communities grieve, there is also a shared responsibility to strengthen preventive mental health systems and improve access to supports that may help reduce the likelihood of future tragedies.

Local governments across British Columbia are facing increasing pressures related to gaps in timely and accessible mental health services. In rural and northern communities, these challenges are often intensified by limited local services, workforce shortages, long travel distances, and reduced access to specialized care. When early intervention and community-based supports are unavailable, impacts frequently shift to municipal systems such as emergency services, RCMP detachments, bylaw enforcement, and homelessness response.

Access to counselling and related mental health supports in British Columbia is currently delivered through a mix of public and private funding. In many cases, services depend on private insurance coverage, employer benefits, session limits, or out-of-pocket costs, creating barriers to equitable care, particularly in smaller communities where alternatives may be limited.

Improving access to universal, publicly funded mental health services, including counselling and related supports, would help ensure individuals can access care regardless of income or private insurance coverage. Strengthening these services within the broader health system, with a focus on early intervention and prevention, may help reduce reliance on crisis-based responses and improve community stability. As the order of government most directly managing many of the local impacts, municipalities have a strong interest in advocating for improved access to these services, particularly in rural and northern communities, where service gaps are often most acute.
